Herkules Introduces The A-Series General Industry Lift Tables for Material Handling in Manufacturing

Walled Lake, Michigan. September 3, 2008. Herkules introduces the new A-Series Lifts, a 100% air-operated material handling scissor lift priced very competitively. Extremely unique, the A-Series Lift's "bolt-together" design provides tremendous flexibility by allowing the user to purchase only the lift components needed at the time. If the application changes, a new component can be easily added without replacing the entire lift, drastically reducing future equipment costs. A tilt, rotate, top plate, casters, and other optional components are available to add to the lift for improving ergonomics at any time, offering solutions for hundreds of different applications.

The A-Series lift's power source, Herkules' Air Bag™ technology, provides a patented direct one-to-one lift ratio, eliminating stress on the scissors, minimizing wear and maintenance. The lifting motion is smooth and stable. The heavy-duty air bags are built for rugged daily use giving facilities a lifetime of trouble-free operation.

The A-Series Lift is ideal for improving ergonomics and productivity by raising pallets or containers to the perfect height, from 7" to 32", so workers do not need to strain and bend while unloading or loading material. The lift is virtually maintenance-free, with no messy fluids or costly cylinders to replace.
